

Caroline Hirst, BVetMed DipACVECC DipECVECC MBA MRCVS
Lumbry Park Veterinary Specialists, Hampshire, United Kingdom

Caroline graduated from the Royal Veterinary College in the UK and shortly thereafter chose to pursue a career in small animal emergency and critical care, initially becoming an emergency night vet before pursuing specialist training with an internship in the US. She returned to the UK to complete her residency training and since becoming a specialist in 2012, has worked in a variety of referral clinics both private and academic. Her clinical interests include management of trauma, sepsis and coagulopathies. She is particularly interested on the impact of sleep deprivation on the outcomes of critical patients.
