

Johanna Wolf

DVM, PhD

Senior Lecturer in Small Animal Emergency and Critical Care

University of Edinburgh, The Royal (Dick) School of Veterinary Studies and The Roslin Institute, Easter Bush Campus, Midlothian, Scotland

Johanna graduated from the University of Munich in 2009 before completing a postgraduate doctorate in 2012. Following a rotating internship at the University of Edinburgh, she worked as an emergency vet in England for 1.5 years. In 2015, she moved to the US for an ECC internship at UC Davis followed by an ECC residency at the North Carolina State University. After gaining her diploma from the American College of Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Medicine, Johanna returned to Edinburgh as a lecturer in Emergency and Critical Care in November 2020. She enjoys all aspects of critical care and emergency medicine, but is particularly interested in coagulation disorders and trauma patients.
